FAQs

1. What type of flour is best for a pie crust? All-purpose flour is a good starting point, but pastry flour can also yield a more tender crust.
1. How do I prevent a soggy bottom in my pie? Blind baking the crust (pre-baking it before adding the filling) is key.
1. Can I freeze pie dough? Yes, pie dough freezes well. Wrap it tightly and freeze for up to 3 months.
1. What's the secret to a flaky crust? Using cold ingredients and avoiding overworking the dough are crucial.

1. How do I know when my pie is done baking? The filling should be set, and the crust should be golden brown. A toothpick inserted into the center should come out clean.
1. What are some creative pie filling ideas? Consider combinations like blackberry-lavender, pumpkin-ginger, or even savory options like mushroom and spinach.
1. How can I decorate my pie creatively? Try lattice tops, cut-out shapes, or arranging fruit in artistic patterns.
1. What should I do if my pie crust cracks? Don't panic! You can often patch cracks with small pieces of dough.
1. Can I make a pie without a traditional crust? Yes! Consider using a crumble topping or a streusel topping.
