Book Concept: Before Dawn and the End of the World

Logline: A gripping narrative exploring humanity's response to a looming, existential threat, interwoven with the personal journey of a scientist racing against time to find a solution, forcing readers to confront their own mortality and the fragility of existence.

Storyline/Structure:

The book uses a dual narrative structure. One strand follows Dr. Aris Thorne, a brilliant but disillusioned astrophysicist who discovers a celestial anomaly – a rapidly approaching object that threatens to obliterate Earth. The other strand unfolds through interconnected narratives of diverse individuals across the globe, each reacting to the impending doom in their own unique way: a grieving mother, a hardened soldier, a young activist, a reclusive artist, and a religious leader. The book moves between Aris's scientific race against time to understand and possibly avert the catastrophe and the emotional, societal, and spiritual responses of humanity facing its potential end. The climax occurs just before the predicted impact, leaving the reader on the edge of their seat, uncertain of the fate of humanity and the meaning of existence.
