This introductory chapter sets the stage, introducing the central theme of duality within human nature. It uses the metaphor of the two cats, Azure and Ruby, to represent the left and right brain hemispheres. It explores the historical and philosophical understanding of these two modes of thinking, highlighting the common struggle to balance logic and intuition. The introduction emphasizes the potential for conflict and the ultimate goal of integration for a more holistic and fulfilling life. The chapter illustrates the strengths of logical thinking, such as problem-solving, efficiency, and
